

UNIVERSITY of MISSOURI

Emergency Physicians

Department of Emergency Medicine

The University of Missouri-Columbia (MU) School of Medicine is seeking board-certified/prepared emergency medicine and pediatric emergency physicians for its growing Emergency Medicine Department. Pediatric candidates would be either emergency medicine or pediatric residency trained with completion of a pediatric emergency medicine fellowship. Medical director and other leadership rolls are available.

We are an energetic and talented faculty creating a patient-centered environment of excellence. We are committed to innovation, quality, collaboration, teamwork, valuing the individual, and honoring the dignity of the human spirit.

Faculty track (tenure or non-tenure) and academic rank will be commensurate with candidate's experience and career goals. These physicians will practice at MU's University Hospital, a designated Level I trauma center with more than 50,000 ED visits annually, and MU Women's and Children's Hospital, which has approximately 20,000 ED visits annually.

MU is one of the few institutions in the country with colleges of medicine, veterinary medicine, agriculture, engineering, nursing and health professions on one campus. The School of Medicine's more than 650 faculty physicians and scientists educate more than 1,000 medical students, residents, fellows and other students seeking advanced degrees.

With our burgeoning department entering its third year of EM residency in 2016, we are thrilled to be contributing to this legacy. Learn more online at: medicine.missouri.edu/emergency.

The Columbia area offers exceptional outdoor recreation, excellent schools, quality music and cultural events, as well as the excitement and energy of a SEC University town, all conveniently located between St. Louis and Kansas City.

The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

Candidates should send a current CV which includes three listed references to:
